

CYCLISTS ARE WILLING TO CLOSE

Would Accept Councilman Hartenstein's Ordinance.

ABANDON SIDEWALKS

BUT DEMAND BETTER STREETS FOR THE WHEELMEN.

Claimed Fifty Per Cent of Salt Lake's Population Rides Bicycles and They Will Insist That They Be Given Treatment as Generous as the Other Half.

The annual crusade against wheelmen riding on the sidewalks of the city has begun again. This year it is Councilman Hartenstein who is the leader in the movement to put the riders in the roads, and he has an ordinance all prepared to introduce in the council last evening. Owing to the pressure of business the matter was not given consideration, and the introduction of the proposed ordinance will not occur until next week.

This is the bill as it was drawn up by the councilman, and as it will be read at next week's meeting of the council:

"Section 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to ride a bicycle or tricycle on the sidewalk of any street in Salt Lake City, or upon the space set apart for sidewalks upon any street in Salt Lake City, between the last day of May and the first day of October each year.

"Sec. 2. Any person who shall violate the provisions of the foregoing section shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than $2 nor more than $25 for each and every offense, and may be compelled to yield the possession of his wheel to the officer of the city, as security, pending the hearing and determination of the violation complained of.

"Sec. 3. All ordinances and resolutions in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Opinions of Wheelmen.

There were many and varied expressions among the wheelmen yesterday and last evening over Councilman Hartenstein's proposed ordinance. Some of the men who pursue their way daily to and from work on steeds of steel were of the opinion that it would result beneficially to the city under certain conditions, while others opposed it in terms that left no doubt as to their opinion of what they called an infringement of their rights as citizens.

But there was a most general sentiment among the better class of wheelmen to the effect that the proposed ordinance was a violation of the rights of the riders if the condition of the roads was so changed that peddling on them and their sole use would be practicable and comfortable. They said that 95 per cent of the riders are careful in winding their way along the sidewalks, but that the remaining 5 per cent, comprising alleged racers who utilize every opportunity to speed, and who, in their haste, carelessly and recklessly, are not old enough to look where they are going, do enough damage to condemn all the rest.

John Sharp, who is the local representative of the National Cycling association and the most prominent wheelman in the state, expressed his view of the matter tersely last evening.

Would Be a Benefit.

"It is my opinion," said he, "that the result would be beneficial to both riders and pedestrians as long as the roads are kept in good order. But when the streets are so sprinkled—as they have been this year—that at times they are a veritable sea of mud, it is a practical impossibility for riders to make their way along. In that case, the city council would be working a deprivation on riders by passing the resolution."

"It all resolves itself into a proposition of this kind: It is estimated that nearly 50 per cent of the population of the city ride on bicycles and the roads are made in favor of the other 50 per cent who walk, the city council cannot leave out of its reckoning those who ride. If the council passes a resolution which compels the riders to leave the roads, it must also make provision for the riders who are left on the streets. That is only justice to both sides in the controversy. As it is, the riders are absolutely an unit condition for a rider to make his way along with any degree of comfort. It is the poor system of sprinkling that makes the condition what it is."

Cycle Paths Wanted.

"In all the large cities of the east where riding on the sidewalk is prohibited, there are cycle paths on the sides of the roads that are really better for the wheelmen than the sidewalks, and all danger to pedestrians is done away with. That is what should be done here, and if the council carries out the one part of its proposed action, it must also carry out the other and make it possible for the wheelmen to ride on the roads."

"But if the council does not do this, the wheelmen will be heard from. They can be a powerful political force if they are organized. This organization will come when their rights are abused, and the councilmen who take part in the deprivation of those rights will be the sufferers at the polls."

Mr. Sharp said in speaking of the petition of the Opel club for a bicycle path along the Higgins' boulevard, which is under consideration by the county commissioners, that he was unalterably opposed to it.

"The men who built the boulevard, built it as a speedway for their horses, said he, 'and it should be kept as such. Permission to allow cyclists on the speedway would mean danger to them, and they are wrong in asking for it. It is perfectly right and proper that there should be a place where men with fast horses can exercise them daily, and that place should be reserved for nothing else.'"

The New Hotel.

The praise and commendation of discriminating traveling men is always valuable, and it is this class of travelers in the majority at Don Porter's new hotel, 'The Kenyon,' who do not qualify or abridge the pleasant or complimentary things they have to say of this particularly 'nice' new hotel.

Painless Extraction of Teeth by Dr. E. M. Keyser.

Liebling is coming June 5.

The Knutsford Hotel.

The one place for comfort and elegance. Fireproof. Central. Telephone in every room and modern in every way.

Royal Bread.

Everybody eats it. Nothing beats it. Look for the label and ask your grocer for it every day.

Strike Shuts Down Potteries.

Akron, O., May 22.—All the potteries in this city, 500 or more men, struck today for higher wages, and practically all of the potteries here are shut down.

Spain's Queen Signs Agreement.

Madrid, May 22.—The queen regent has signed the postal convention with the United States.

CLOVE IS APPOINTED

Succeeds John C. Graham in Provo Postoffice.

ABANDON SIDEWALKS

BUT DEMAND BETTER STREETS FOR THE WHEELMEN.

Claimed Fifty Per Cent of Salt Lake's Population Rides Bicycles and They Will Insist That They Be Given Treatment as Generous as the Other Half.

The annual crusade against wheelmen riding on the sidewalks of the city has begun again. This year it is Councilman Hartenstein who is the leader in the movement to put the riders in the roads, and he has an ordinance all prepared to introduce in the council last evening. Owing to the pressure of business the matter was not given consideration, and the introduction of the proposed ordinance will not occur until next week.

This is the bill as it was drawn up by the councilman, and as it will be read at next week's meeting of the council:

"Section 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to ride a bicycle or tricycle on the sidewalk of any street in Salt Lake City, or upon the space set apart for sidewalks upon any street in Salt Lake City, between the last day of May and the first day of October each year.

"Sec. 2. Any person who shall violate the provisions of the foregoing section shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than $2 nor more than $25 for each and every offense, and may be compelled to yield the possession of his wheel to the officer of the city, as security, pending the hearing and determination of the violation complained of.

"Sec. 3. All ordinances and resolutions in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Opinions of Wheelmen.

There were many and varied expressions among the wheelmen yesterday and last evening over Councilman Hartenstein's proposed ordinance. Some of the men who pursue their way daily to and from work on steeds of steel were of the opinion that it would result beneficially to the city under certain conditions, while others opposed it in terms that left no doubt as to their opinion of what they called an infringement of their rights as citizens.

But there was a most general sentiment among the better class of wheelmen to the effect that the proposed ordinance was a violation of the rights of the riders if the condition of the roads was so changed that peddling on them and their sole use would be practicable and comfortable. They said that 95 per cent of the riders are careful in winding their way along the sidewalks, but that the remaining 5 per cent, comprising alleged racers who utilize every opportunity to speed, and who, in their haste, carelessly and recklessly, are not old enough to look where they are going, do enough damage to condemn all the rest.

John Sharp, who is the local representative of the National Cycling association and the most prominent wheelman in the state, expressed his view of the matter tersely last evening.

Would Be a Benefit.

"It is my opinion," said he, "that the result would be beneficial to both riders and pedestrians as long as the roads are kept in good order. But when the streets are so sprinkled—as they have been this year—that at times they are a veritable sea of mud, it is a practical impossibility for riders to make their way along. In that case, the city council would be working a deprivation on riders by passing the resolution."

"It all resolves itself into a proposition of this kind: It is estimated that nearly 50 per cent of the population of the city ride on bicycles and the roads are made in favor of the other 50 per cent who walk, the city council cannot leave out of its reckoning those who ride. If the council passes a resolution which compels the riders to leave the roads, it must also make provision for the riders who are left on the streets. That is only justice to both sides in the controversy. As it is, the riders are absolutely an unit condition for a rider to make his way along with any degree of comfort. It is the poor system of sprinkling that makes the condition what it is."

Cycle Paths Wanted.

"In all the large cities of the east where riding on the sidewalk is prohibited, there are cycle paths on the sides of the roads that are really better for the wheelmen than the sidewalks, and all danger to pedestrians is done away with. That is what should be done here, and if the council carries out the one part of its proposed action, it must also carry out the other and make it possible for the wheelmen to ride on the roads."

"But if the council does not do this, the wheelmen will be heard from. They can be a powerful political force if they are organized. This organization will come when their rights are abused, and the councilmen who take part in the deprivation of those rights will be the sufferers at the polls."

Mr. Sharp said in speaking of the petition of the Opel club for a bicycle path along the Higgins' boulevard, which is under consideration by the county commissioners, that he was unalterably opposed to it.

"The men who built the boulevard, built it as a speedway for their horses, said he, 'and it should be kept as such. Permission to allow cyclists on the speedway would mean danger to them, and they are wrong in asking for it. It is perfectly right and proper that there should be a place where men with fast horses can exercise them daily, and that place should be reserved for nothing else.'"

The New Hotel.

The praise and commendation of discriminating traveling men is always valuable, and it is this class of travelers in the majority at Don Porter's new hotel, 'The Kenyon,' who do not qualify or abridge the pleasant or complimentary things they have to say of this particularly 'nice' new hotel.

Painless Extraction of Teeth by Dr. E. M. Keyser.

Liebling is coming June 5.

The Knutsford Hotel.

The one place for comfort and elegance. Fireproof. Central. Telephone in every room and modern in every way.

Royal Bread.

Everybody eats it. Nothing beats it. Look for the label and ask your grocer for it every day.

Strike Shuts Down Potteries.

Akron, O., May 22.—All the potteries in this city, 500 or more men, struck today for higher wages, and practically all of the potteries here are shut down.

Spain's Queen Signs Agreement.

Madrid, May 22.—The queen regent has signed the postal convention with the United States.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Succeeds John C. Graham in Provo Postoffice.

ABANDON SIDEWALKS

BUT DEMAND BETTER STREETS FOR THE WHEELMEN.

Claimed Fifty Per Cent of Salt Lake's Population Rides Bicycles and They Will Insist That They Be Given Treatment as Generous as the Other Half.

The annual crusade against wheelmen riding on the sidewalks of the city has begun again. This year it is Councilman Hartenstein who is the leader in the movement to put the riders in the roads, and he has an ordinance all prepared to introduce in the council last evening. Owing to the pressure of business the matter was not given consideration, and the introduction of the proposed ordinance will not occur until next week.

This is the bill as it was drawn up by the councilman, and as it will be read at next week's meeting of the council:

"Section 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to ride a bicycle or tricycle on the sidewalk of any street in Salt Lake City, or upon the space set apart for sidewalks upon any street in Salt Lake City, between the last day of May and the first day of October each year.

"Sec. 2. Any person who shall violate the provisions of the foregoing section shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than $2 nor more than $25 for each and every offense, and may be compelled to yield the possession of his wheel to the officer of the city, as security, pending the hearing and determination of the violation complained of.

"Sec. 3. All ordinances and resolutions in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Opinions of Wheelmen.

There were many and varied expressions among the wheelmen yesterday and last evening over Councilman Hartenstein's proposed ordinance. Some of the men who pursue their way daily to and from work on steeds of steel were of the opinion that it would result beneficially to the city under certain conditions, while others opposed it in terms that left no doubt as to their opinion of what they called an infringement of their rights as citizens.

But there was a most general sentiment among the better class of wheelmen to the effect that the proposed ordinance was a violation of the rights of the riders if the condition of the roads was so changed that peddling on them and their sole use would be practicable and comfortable. They said that 95 per cent of the riders are careful in winding their way along the sidewalks, but that the remaining 5 per cent, comprising alleged racers who utilize every opportunity to speed, and who, in their haste, carelessly and recklessly, are not old enough to look where they are going, do enough damage to condemn all the rest.

John Sharp, who is the local representative of the National Cycling association and the most prominent wheelman in the state, expressed his view of the matter tersely last evening.

Would Be a Benefit.

"It is my opinion," said he, "that the result would be beneficial to both riders and pedestrians as long as the roads are kept in good order. But when the streets are so sprinkled—as they have been this year—that at times they are a veritable sea of mud, it is a practical impossibility for riders to make their way along. In that case, the city council would be working a deprivation on riders by passing the resolution."

"It all resolves itself into a proposition of this kind: It is estimated that nearly 50 per cent of the population of the city ride on bicycles and the roads are made in favor of the other 50 per cent who walk, the city council cannot leave out of its reckoning those who ride. If the council passes a resolution which compels the riders to leave the roads, it must also make provision for the riders who are left on the streets. That is only justice to both sides in the controversy. As it is, the riders are absolutely an unit condition for a rider to make his way along with any degree of comfort. It is the poor system of sprinkling that makes the condition what it is."

Cycle Paths Wanted.

"In all the large cities of the east where riding on the sidewalk is prohibited, there are cycle paths on the sides of the roads that are really better for the wheelmen than the sidewalks, and all danger to pedestrians is done away with. That is what should be done here, and if the council carries out the one part of its proposed action, it must also carry out the other and make it possible for the wheelmen to ride on the roads."

"But if the council does not do this, the wheelmen will be heard from. They can be a powerful political force if they are organized. This organization will come when their rights are abused, and the councilmen who take part in the deprivation of those rights will be the sufferers at the polls."

Mr. Sharp said in speaking of the petition of the Opel club for a bicycle path along the Higgins' boulevard, which is under consideration by the county commissioners, that he was unalterably opposed to it.

"The men who built the boulevard, built it as a speedway for their horses, said he, 'and it should be kept as such. Permission to allow cyclists on the speedway would mean danger to them, and they are wrong in asking for it. It is perfectly right and proper that there should be a place where men with fast horses can exercise them daily, and that place should be reserved for nothing else.'"

The New Hotel.

The praise and commendation of discriminating traveling men is always valuable, and it is this class of travelers in the majority at Don Porter's new hotel, 'The Kenyon,' who do not qualify or abridge the pleasant or complimentary things they have to say of this particularly 'nice' new hotel.

Painless Extraction of Teeth by Dr. E. M. Keyser.

Liebling is coming June 5.

The Knutsford Hotel.

The one place for comfort and elegance. Fireproof. Central. Telephone in every room and modern in every way.

Royal Bread.

Everybody eats it. Nothing beats it. Look for the label and ask your grocer for it every day.

Strike Shuts Down Potteries.

Akron, O., May 22.—All the potteries in this city, 500 or more men, struck today for higher wages, and practically all of the potteries here are shut down.

Spain's Queen Signs Agreement.

Madrid, May 22.—The queen regent has signed the postal convention with the United States.

An Invitation

The Herald invites you to make use of its columns FREE OF CHARGE, if you want help, or if you are looking for a position.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Succeeds John C. Graham in Provo Postoffice.

Claimed Fifty Per Cent of Salt Lake's Population Rides Bicycles and They Will Insist That They Be Given Treatment as Generous as the Other Half.

The annual crusade against wheelmen riding on the sidewalks of the city has begun again. This year it is Councilman Hartenstein who is the leader in the movement to put the riders in the roads, and he has an ordinance all prepared to introduce in the council last evening. Owing to the pressure of business the matter was not given consideration, and the introduction of the proposed ordinance will not occur until next week.

This is the bill as it was drawn up by the councilman, and as it will be read at next week's meeting of the council:

"Section 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to ride a bicycle or tricycle on the sidewalk of any street in Salt Lake City, or upon the space set apart for sidewalks upon any street in Salt Lake City, between the last day of May and the first day of October each year.

"Sec. 2. Any person who shall violate the provisions of the foregoing section shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than $2 nor more than $25 for each and every offense, and may be compelled to yield the possession of his wheel to the officer of the city, as security, pending the hearing and determination of the violation complained of.

"Sec. 3. All ordinances and resolutions in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Opinions of Wheelmen.

There were many and varied expressions among the wheelmen yesterday and last evening over Councilman Hartenstein's proposed ordinance. Some of the men who pursue their way daily to and from work on steeds of steel were of the opinion that it would result beneficially to the city under certain conditions, while others opposed it in terms that left no doubt as to their opinion of what they called an infringement of their rights as citizens.

But there was a most general sentiment among the better class of wheelmen to the effect that the proposed ordinance was a violation of the rights of the riders if the condition of the roads was so changed that peddling on them and their sole use would be practicable and comfortable. They said that 95 per cent of the riders are careful in winding their way along the sidewalks, but that the remaining 5 per cent, comprising alleged racers who utilize every opportunity to speed, and who, in their haste, carelessly and recklessly, are not old enough to look where they are going, do enough damage to condemn all the rest.

John Sharp, who is the local representative of the National Cycling association and the most prominent wheelman in the state, expressed his view of the matter tersely last evening.

Would Be a Benefit.

"It is my opinion," said he, "that the result would be beneficial to both riders and pedestrians as long as the roads are kept in good order. But when the streets are so sprinkled—as they have been this year—that at times they are a veritable sea of mud, it is a practical impossibility for riders to make their way along. In that case, the city council would be working a deprivation on riders by passing the resolution."

"It all resolves itself into a proposition of this kind: It is estimated that nearly 50 per cent of the population of the city ride on bicycles and the roads are made in favor of the other 50 per cent who walk, the city council cannot leave out of its reckoning those who ride. If the council passes a resolution which compels the riders to leave the roads, it must also make provision for the riders who are left on the streets. That is only justice to both sides in the controversy. As it is, the riders are absolutely an unit condition for a rider to make his way along with any degree of comfort. It is the poor system of sprinkling that makes the condition what it is."

Cycle Paths Wanted.

"In all the large cities of the east where riding on the sidewalk is prohibited, there are cycle paths on the sides of the roads that are really better for the wheelmen than the sidewalks, and all danger to pedestrians is done away with. That is what should be done here, and if the council carries out the one part of its proposed action, it must also carry out the other and make it possible for the wheelmen to ride on the roads."

"But if the council does not do this, the wheelmen will be heard from. They can be a powerful political force if they are organized. This organization will come when their rights are abused, and the councilmen who take part in the deprivation of those rights will be the sufferers at the polls."

Mr. Sharp said in speaking of the petition of the Opel club for a bicycle path along the Higgins' boulevard, which is under consideration by the county commissioners, that he was unalterably opposed to it.

"The men who built the boulevard, built it as a speedway for their horses, said he, 'and it should be kept as such. Permission to allow cyclists on the speedway would mean danger to them, and they are wrong in asking for it. It is perfectly right and proper that there should be a place where men with fast horses can exercise them daily, and that place should be reserved for nothing else.'"

The New Hotel.

The praise and commendation of discriminating traveling men is always valuable, and it is this class of travelers in the majority at Don Porter's new hotel, 'The Kenyon,' who do not qualify or abridge the pleasant or complimentary things they have to say of this particularly 'nice' new hotel.

Painless Extraction of Teeth by Dr. E. M. Keyser.

Liebling is coming June 5.

The Knutsford Hotel.

The one place for comfort and elegance. Fireproof. Central. Telephone in every room and modern in every way.

Royal Bread.

Everybody eats it. Nothing beats it. Look for the label and ask your grocer for it every day.

Strike Shuts Down Potteries.

Akron, O., May 22.—All the potteries in this city, 500 or more men, struck today for higher wages, and practically all of the potteries here are shut down.

Spain's Queen Signs Agreement.

Madrid, May 22.—The queen regent has signed the postal convention with the United States.

FURNISHED ROOMS.

ELEGANTLY FURNISHED ROOMS, everything new, electric light, close in; 229 South Main street.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Succeeds John C. Graham in Provo Postoffice.

Claimed Fifty Per Cent of Salt Lake's Population Rides Bicycles and They Will Insist That They Be Given Treatment as Generous as the Other Half.

The annual crusade against wheelmen riding on the sidewalks of the city has begun again. This year it is Councilman Hartenstein who is the leader in the movement to put the riders in the roads, and he has an ordinance all prepared to introduce in the council last evening. Owing to the pressure of business the matter was not given consideration, and the introduction of the proposed ordinance will not occur until next week.

This is the bill as it was drawn up by the councilman, and as it will be read at next week's meeting of the council:

"Section 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any person to ride a bicycle or tricycle on the sidewalk of any street in Salt Lake City, or upon the space set apart for sidewalks upon any street in Salt Lake City, between the last day of May and the first day of October each year.

"Sec. 2. Any person who shall violate the provisions of the foregoing section shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than $2 nor more than $25 for each and every offense, and may be compelled to yield the possession of his wheel to the officer of the city, as security, pending the hearing and determination of the violation complained of.

"Sec. 3. All ordinances and resolutions in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Opinions of Wheelmen.

There were many and varied expressions among the wheelmen yesterday and last evening over Councilman Hartenstein's proposed ordinance. Some of the men who pursue their way daily to and from work on steeds of steel were of the opinion that it would result beneficially to the city under certain conditions, while others opposed it in terms that left no doubt as to their opinion of what they called an infringement of their rights as citizens.

But there was a most general sentiment among the better class of wheelmen to the effect that the proposed ordinance was a violation of the rights of the riders if the condition of the roads was so changed that peddling on them and their sole use would be practicable and comfortable. They said that 95 per cent of the riders are careful in winding their way along the sidewalks, but that the remaining 5 per cent, comprising alleged racers who utilize every opportunity to speed, and who, in their haste, carelessly and recklessly, are not old enough to look where they are going, do enough damage to condemn all the rest.

John Sharp, who is the local representative of the National Cycling association and the most prominent wheelman in the state, expressed his view of the matter tersely last evening.

Would Be a Benefit.

"It is my opinion," said he, "that the result would be beneficial to both riders and pedestrians as long as the roads are kept in good order. But when the streets are so sprinkled—as they have been this year—that at times they are a veritable sea of mud, it is a practical impossibility for riders to make their way along. In that case, the city council would be working a deprivation on riders by passing the resolution."

"It all resolves itself into a proposition of this kind: It is estimated that nearly 50 per cent of the population of the city ride on bicycles and the roads are made in favor of the other 50 per cent who walk, the city council cannot leave out of its reckoning those who ride. If the council passes a resolution which compels the riders to leave the roads, it must also make provision for the riders who are left on the streets. That is only justice to both sides in the controversy. As it is, the riders are absolutely an unit condition for a rider to make his way along with any degree of comfort. It is the poor system of sprinkling that makes the condition what it is."

Cycle Paths Wanted.

"In all the large cities of the east where riding on the sidewalk is prohibited, there are cycle paths on the sides of the roads that are really better for the wheelmen than the sidewalks, and all danger to pedestrians is done away with. That is what should be done here, and if the council carries out the one part of its proposed action, it must also carry out the other and make it possible for the wheelmen to ride on the roads."

"But if the council does not do this, the wheelmen will be heard from. They can be a powerful political force if they are organized. This organization will come when their rights are abused, and the councilmen who take part in the deprivation of those rights will be the sufferers at the polls."

Mr. Sharp said in speaking of the petition of the Opel club for a bicycle path along the Higgins' boulevard, which is under consideration by the county commissioners, that he was unalterably opposed to it.

"The men who built the boulevard, built it as a speedway for their horses, said he, 'and it should be kept as such. Permission to allow cyclists on the speedway would mean danger to them, and they are wrong in asking for it. It is perfectly right and proper that there should be a place where men with fast horses can exercise them daily, and that place should be reserved for nothing else.'"

The New Hotel.

The praise and commendation of discriminating traveling men is always valuable, and it is this class of travelers in the majority at Don Porter's new hotel, 'The Kenyon,' who do not qualify or abridge the pleasant or complimentary things they have to say of this particularly 'nice' new hotel.

Painless Extraction of Teeth by Dr. E. M. Keyser.

Liebling is coming June 5.

The Knutsford Hotel.

The one place for comfort and elegance. Fireproof. Central. Telephone in every room and modern in every way.

Royal Bread.

Everybody eats it. Nothing beats it. Look for the label and ask your grocer for it every day.

Strike Shuts Down Potteries.

Akron, O., May 22.—All the potteries in this city, 500 or more men, struck today for higher wages, and practically all of the potteries here are shut down.

Spain's Queen Signs Agreement.

Madrid, May 22.—The queen regent has signed the postal convention with the United States.

WATCHES AND JEWELRY.